The Independent Living Resource Center San Francisco’s (ILRCSF) mission is to ensure that people with disabilities are full social and economic partners, both within their families and in a fully accessible community.

A Letter from our Board President

I was invited to join the Board of Directors of the Independent Living Resource Center San Francisco (ILRCSF) in the spring of 2017. After my retirement from a thirty-year career as a social worker in the field of blindness services, I welcomed this opportunity to devote some time supporting an organization with a strong commitment to advocacy for and service to the broader disability community. As I’ve come to know ILRCSF staff, I’ve been increasingly impressed by their dedication and creativity as they connect with the broad range of SF people with disabilities they meet every day. They are deeply committed to the agency’s mission. The past year has been a particularly productive one for the ILRCSF Board. In the spring of 2018, we conducted a nationwide search for a new Executive Director. Our search led us back home to Lana Nieves, whose long years of service as Program Director made her a superb choice to continue our work. In the fall of 2018, several board members collaborated to produce a Strategic Plan for ILRCSF. In September 2018, I was elected to serve as President for the next year. I feel privileged to assume this role and look forward to achieving more growth and success for this inspiring organization.

A Letter from our Executive Director

I’ve been with ILRCSF since 2006, having worked in Development, Communications and, most recently, as Program Director. As a person with a disability, ILRCSF’s mission is especially relevant to me. When our former Executive Director, Jessie Lorenz, informed me she’d decided to leave the state to pursue some exciting opportunities, I knew I wanted to put my hat in the ring for the E.D. position. I’m honored to have been entrusted with the task of leading this organization, and I feel lucky to have the most amazing staff anyone could ask for. I’m grateful for the overwhelming support I’ve received as I’ve made the transition into this position— from Jessie, ILRCSF’s Executive Board, staff, funders and donors, and from the public. There are great things ahead for ILRCSF – watch this space.

In 2018, we celebrated some staff milestones. Victoria Tedder marked 25 years leading our Housing program, and Bridgett Brown marked 20 years with the agency, where she has worked in Benefits, and now covers a broader scope of personal finance issues, as our Economic Empowerment Coordinator. Over the years, both Victoria and Bridgett have provided thousands of individuals with information, support and advocacy, connected people making the transition to community-based living to funding for first month’s rent and rental deposits, conducted extensive outreach, hosted workshops on Fair Housing, SSI/SSDI Rights and Responsibilities, Employment and Vocational Training options, and personal financial management, and connected them to other services offered at ILRCSF.
At ILRCSF we are passionate about supporting and empowering people with disabilities to lead meaningful, independent lives and to actively participate in their communities. We are a group of professionals and volunteers, and all of us have disabilities ourselves. We work collaboratively with individuals to help them determine what services and programs are right for them.
